STANDARD BAROMETER READING.

The following information is published in order that vessels in the Bombay Harbour may by comparison with a standard instrument, ascertain the errors of their barometers:—

The reading of the Standard Barometer at the Colaba Observatory corrected for index error and reduced to 32 deg. F. and to the level of the tide, at 8-45 a.m. Standard Time on the 19th November 1914, was 30.068 inches. For temperature corrections applicable to mercurial barometers of ships the reading of the ship's barometer has to be increased or decreased by 0.18 inch. for every 5 degrees according as the temperature of the attached thermometer is respectively below or above 88 deg. F. In case of the aneroid no temperature or correction is needed. But for comparison at 32 F. all aneroid reading should be increased by 138 inch. For correcting the ship's barometer either mercurial or aneroid for the height of the barometer cistern above the tide level in the steam at 8-45 a.m. Standard time, the ship's barometer reading should be increased by 0.10 inch. for every 10 feet of height to make it comparable with the observatory barometer reading given above.

A private cable received by Messrs. The New York telegram of the 17th inst. came to hand this evening. January was 23 points down and March 30 points down, spot being 25 lower. New Orleans was 29 points lower for December and 35 points down for May.

In sympathy with the decline in Liverpool the Local Market opened easier at Rs. 176 for good Broach and Rs. 117 for fully good Bengal. During the early part of the day very little business was done and the Market was quiet. This afternoon there was practically no change in rates and the Market closed quiet as under. Business has been slack.

Ready cotton is easier and the demand is very moderate.

FETE AT BANDRA.

On the 15th instant, in aid of the Indian War Relief Fund, the members of the Bandra Catholic Association and Gymkhana, assisted by the sisters of St. Joseph's convent and the Fathers of St. Stanislaus' Institution, held a grand fete. The grounds of St. Stanislaus' Institution were tastefully decorated and well-illuminated, presenting a gay and gala appearance. The place was alive with people, and the grand and second enclosures were all packed, and, in fact, all available space was soon taken up.

The Grand March Past of the bands, with which the proceedings opened, was a magnificent sight. The whole of the programme was magnificently organised, the several items going off swimmingly and drawing forth enthusiastic cheers. Great praise and sincere thanks are due to the Fathers of St. Stanislaus' Institution and the sisters of St. Joseph's convent on the ready way in which they assisted in the worthy cause and the strenuous efforts they had put forth to make every item as perfect as possible. It was delightful to see how efficiently all the children went through complicated movements without the slightest flaw. The housemaids' drill was novel and extremely mirthful; the toy symphony was a splendid performance of excellently executed music, the "first aid in warfare" was most realistic; the flag drill symbolising the historical union of England, Scotland and Ireland was capital; the gymnastic Tableaux were much appreciated; and the torch drill, which was rather trying to the nerves of the little boys, was gone through with a dogged determination.

Thanks are due, to the officers of the 108th Infantry for having lent the services of their Band fof the fete free of chargo.

The annual Convocation of the Madras University was held yesterday. The Hon. Mr. Shivaswami Iyer, Member of the Executive Council, delivered the address.

BOMBAY POLICE COURTS.

PARSI LADY'S COMPLAINT.

SEQUEL TO THE ALLEGED ABDUCTION CASE.

At the Mazagaon Police Court, on Thursday, before the Fourth Presidency Magistrate, the notice matter again came on for hearing in which Framji Pallonji Pastakia and Mrs. Dinbai P. Vakil were called upon, at the instance of Mrs. Sunabai Pirojsha Patel, to show cause why sanction should not be given for a prosecution against them on charges of giving false evidence in the case of alleged abduction, which was subsequently dismissed, and instituting false proceedings. Mr. J. Baptista, barrister, with Messrs. Balubhai T. Desai and Bomanshah H. Daruwalla, appeared for the complainant, and Messrs. P. Godinho, C. N. Kanuga and De Cruz for the respondents.

Mrs. Sunabai Patel, examined by Mr. Baptista, said she was married to Mr. Pirojsha Nusserwanji Patel in 1901. In 1909 he filed a suit for divorce against her, which was withdrawn. A consent agreement was entered into, by which she got Rs. 100 per month as the minimum for her maintenance.

Mr. Baptista: Did your husband's father figure in that case?

Mr. Godinho objected to the question, on the ground that they were not enquiring into the domestic history of the complainant and her relations.

Mr. Baptista said false proceedings had been instituted against her and he wanted to show the origin of those proceedings.

The Magistrate overruled the objection.

The witness said her father-in-law instigated the divorce proceedings against her. She made certain allegations, in consequence of which the suit was withdrawn. She knew Framroze Pallonji Pastakia, who instituted proceedings against her in the alleged abduction case. The complaint was dismissed. That case was instituted at the instigation of her husband, her father-in-law and others. The allegations made against her were absolutely false.

Cross-examined by Mr. Godinho. Mrs. Patel said it was not true that Pastakia had made common cause with her. She had only seen him at the race-course.

The hearing was adjourned.

DISHONEST MILKMAN SENT TO PRISON.

At the Mazagaon Police Court, on Thursday, before the Second Presidency Magistrate, Sub-Inspector Shiraze charged a Hindu milkman named Chandkia Shivram with committing theft as a servant in a building of milk, valued at Rs. 6, belonging to Mrs. Aimai Jehangir Commissariat.

The Magistrate, in convincing the accused, said the evidence showed that the complainant, Mrs. Commissariat, kept a dairy at Dadar. For some time past she had been receiving complaints from customers that the milk which the accused took to them was watery and bad. She, therefore, had the accused watched. The accused put the milk in a locked handa with a pipe cork for taking the milk out, of which the key was kept by the complainant. Two men whom the complainant had sent after the accused; saw him on the otla of a chawl, opening the handa with a duplicate key, taking out two seers of milk from it, and putting in an equal quantity of water. Though the value of the milk stolen was only six annas, he deserved to be sent to jail for a long period. Bad milk was the cause of many diseases. Putting in water, which was not even filtered, would undoubtedly have the result of making the milk very impure. Adulteration of milk was going on to a large extent in Bombay and it was one of the principal causes of diseases and infantile mortality. An example should be set, and the accused was sentenced to six weeks' rigorous imprisonment.

POLICE INFORMER ASSAULTED.

At the Esplanade Police Court, yesterday, Inspector Pandit charged Makan Naran with causing grievous hurt to Bala Jivan. Mr. B. H. Daruwalla appeared for the complainant.

The case for the prosecution was that the accused bore the complainant ill-will owing to the latter having been a police informer in a gambling case. He assaulted the complainant, knocking out one tooth, and causing injury to two others. He was convicted and sentenced to a day's simple imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 100, out of which Rs. 50 was ordered to be paid to the complainant as compensation.

BOMBAY CORPORATION

CONTRIBUTION TO THE WAR HOSPITAL.

RS. 30,000 VOTED.

An adjourned monthly meeting of the Bombay Municipal Corporation was held yesterday afternoon in the Municipal Council Hall, the President, Sir Fazulbhoy Currimbhoy, being in the chair.

In accordance with a previous notice of motion, Mr. H. P. Mody moved:—

"That a sum of Rs. 30,000 be contributed by the Corporation towards the expenses of the Lady Hardinge Hospital opened under the auspices of the Bombay Presidency Relief Fund, and that the Corporation will be prepared on the recommendation of the Standing Committee to sanction a grant for the purpose."

In support of his proposition, Mr. Mody said:—

Though I feel confident that the proposition will commend itself to the unanimous approval of the Corporation, I shall shortly state my reasons for bringing it forward. When the Indian contingent left for France to the unbounded gratification of the whole country, to fight side by side with the sons of the Mother country and her far-flung dominions, it became necessary to provide for their comfort and to relieve the distress consequent upon the engagement of so many thousands of men in the field. And when the War Fund was opened in this Presidency, I thought it very desirable that the Corporation should bear its share of the burden which was so ungrudgingly and cheerfully borne by all. Whatever criticisms may have been levelled against us in times past, I venture to say that this body has on the whole discharged its manifold functions and obligations in a broad and enlightened spirit, and we have often cooperated with the Government and the public in movements calculated to promote the health and happiness of the people of Bombay. It was, therefore eminently desirable that we should contribute to the War Fund to what amount the state of our finances might permit. But, after looking up various sections of the Municipal Act, and expending some legal ingenuity upon the subject, I could not bring the grant I contemplated within any of the provisions of the Act. Then came the Lady Hardinge War Hospital and I thought it was a good opportunity which the Corporation could legitimately lay hold of, and which it could not afford to neglect. Hence the proposition which is now before the Corporation. I need not commend it to the approval of the house any more than I have done and as regards the amount, I may say that, though a larger grant is not permissible in the present state of our finances, the sum proposed may be considered an adequate contribution, and which I have reason to believe will prove very acceptable. With there remarks, I move the proposition and hope it will be carried unanimously.

Sir Jamshedji Jijibhoy seconded the proposition.

Dr. N. H. Sukhia said that the Commissioner had lately stated that their resources should be husbanded and he wished to know from the Commissioner whether their resources were such as would permit of the grant being made. If they could he would not object to the proposal. Otherwise he would move an amendment to refer the question to a committee.

The Municipal Commissioner said that what he had stated was that owing to the war they could not afford to spent on works which could be postponed without any serious inconvenience. A great many items had been put off for that reason, and only those works which were of an urgent nature would be carried out. They however, could not postpone their contribution to the hospital fund and the opportunity might not occur later. Even after the next year has passed, as Dr. Sukhia knew, they would still have a balance of twenty-one lakhs. That was, he admitted, not a very excessive sum, because they must have a certain amount in hand to assist them in floating their loans. They must keep as much money as possible but he did not think that a sum of Rs. 30,000 would in any way affect their position. This was an absolutely unprecedented occasion, and the opportunity might not occur again for the Municipality of showing their feelings. In his opinion the giving of Rs. 30,000 was not impossible.

After hearing this explanation, Dr. Sukhia said he did not wish to move his amendment.

Sir Dinshah M. Petit said that under ordinary circumstances he would have proposed a more substantial sum, as the sum of Rs. 30,000 was too poor for the humane and praiseworthy object; but in view of their present financial position they must content themselves by voting this sum. It was a pity that they could not give a much larger sum.

The proposition was then carried.

THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT.

Mr. Cowasji Jehangir then moved the adoption of the Municipal Commissioner's administration report for the year 1913-1914, together with the review thereof by the Standing Committee. In doing so, Mr. Cowasji said that their financial position was one on which they could well congratulate themselves. They had an unhypothecated surplus of thirty-three lakhs, and they had also the pleasure to record a record income of one crore and twenty-eight lakhs, and he trusted that in normal times their income would show a tendency to increase. He wished to draw their attention to one point only, and that was the question of lighting. It would be admitted that, for a city like Bombay, their lighting was not adequate. They would see that in the year under report they had spent a sum of Rs. 7,000 and odd more than in the

DUPES AND FRIENDS.

"When one occupies certain positions in the world, one has to make dupes rather than friends." This choice remark was made by the Kaiser to the Princess Radziwill before he came to the throne and gives a peculiar insight into the character of the man who has lived up to this high moral standard during a reign of twenty-six years. Whether we like to acknowledge it or not the fact remains that many of us have been the Kaiser's dupes, ever ready to swallow his extravaganzas of the "blood is thicker than water" type with which he was until recently pleased to dose us. No monarch was assured from the British public a welcome so spontaneous and homely in character, for they fondly imagined that the German Emperor was his mother's son, more than half a Briton at heart. Indeed it did not end even with the personality of the Kaiser. Some of our most eminent statesmen were always on the qui vive to clutch at any argument that was put forward from the other side of the North Sea, holding that the British and Germans were kindred peoples, the allies of a hundred hard-fought fights and that a conflict between Teutons and their "English cousins" would be eminently unpopular in the countries of both, particularly the former. The very Professors who are to-day telling us that the British set Louvain on fire to soil the "fair fame of Germany," were consistently assuring us of their friendship, and, after the model of their sovereign, finding that in "certain positions in the world it is better to make dupes than friends."

The hatred of Germany for England was given a tremendous fillip by the accession to the throne of that most astute of modern monarchs, the late King Edward VII, who it may be said with complete truth always distrusted if he did not actually dislike the Kaiser, both for his treatment of his mother and on account of his presumptuous and hypocritical character. The Tangier fracas and the subsequent consolidation of the Entente Cordiale left no doubt in German minds that, in the event of any aggressive demonstration against France, or any interference in her sphere of interests, we could not and would not remain disinterested spectators. From that time Englishmen ceased to be persona gratissima in the German capital where Chauvinism runs the strongest, and it became unsafe for a Briton to do a tour on the Rhine with a camera. But still the British public permitted themselves to be flattered by the visits of Wilhelm II in their midst. Of course there were those among us who knew that the German Emperor in the nineties introduced the word "humbug" into the language of his people and realised that all he said to us came within the meaning of the word. Baron Marshall von Bieberstein, Germany's most distinguished diplomat, was removed from Constantinople to St. James's in order that he might further the friendship existing between the two countries. The Baron, who brought over from the Hellespont a somewhat unsavoury reputation, died before he could set any intrigues into motion and was succeeded by the amiable Prince Lichnowsky, who left Carlton House Terrace with "I am a ruined man" on his lips. He, during his term at the British Court, conscientiously tried to further amicable relations between the two countries, and was shamefully treated by his Sovereign for his honesty of purpose and left without any proper information as to the intentions of the Wilhelmstrasse in early August. The Kaiser had no use for an Ambassador who preferred friends to dupes. Like most who go in for duping the German Emperor has more than once been the dupe of others cleverer than himself. Disliked by the high aristocracy of the Prince Lichnowsky type, he surrounded himself with wealthy manufacturers whom he duped and by adventurous Professors,—von-hunters,—who duped him. One day an English nobleman who was dining at Potsdam heard disgusted a Prussian General hold forth on the Kaiser, "One never knows what he is going to say next. People don't believe what he says in England do they"? This was just after the Emperor had announced that "the German nation was the block of granite on which the Lord our God can build up and complete the work of civilising the world"! The answer was extremely English in its terseness,—"No we don't believe that civilisation is going to be completed with just that particular block of granite; but, in case it is we English hope anyway to get a good piece of frontage on the street. Foundation stones are chiefly underground." Since then we have had a good many examples of the Teutonic methods of civilisation which can be explained by three words Rheims, Termonde and Louvain. We hope never to be bothered with such methods again but there was a time when we were duped by the theories which produced them. Again the attitude of the Germans as a nation left no doubt as to their open enmity towards England. Times without number Englishmen were hauled up in Germany on trumped-up charges of espionage, and it is certain that had the destinies of the Foreign Office been presided over by one of those fiery Foreign Secretaries of the middle-Victorian period, war would have broken out between the Germany and Britain long ere now. There is the notorious case of Capt. Stewart who was arrested at Bremen a few years ago and without a shadow of evidence thrown into prison at Leipsic. And why? The Navy Bill of 1912 was in the course of preparation and public opinion needed a tonic. Hence this patriotic Briton was made the scapegoat and his "espionage" exploited in order to make the German citizen dip more deeply into his pocket. After every attempt had been made to get him to admit his "guilt," he was ultimately released after fulfilling his two years fraught with every kind of cruelty imaginable.

The following extract from Captain Stewart's memorandum will show to what tactics the Prussian junker will sink and what devices he will employ in order to dupe the Kaiser.

"Though the mass of the German people may not be animated by hostile feeling towards us, they are saturated with militarism, live in a State which General v Bernhardi describes as "wholly based on war," and are ruled by a class which takes as its ideal the theories of Federick the Great, and would be prepared to act towards us as he acted towards Austria.

That ruling class aim at acquiring colonies and money from Great Britain. They aim also at annexing Holland and Belgium with a view to securing not only a share of the wealth of these nations, but in the English Channel important bases for future operations.

To accomplish these ends, Germany must have more sea power. As it would be obviously impolitic for the Government to give these as their reasons for increasing their navy, they state that they only require it for the defence of their coast line and their commerce, but require a large one because we intend to attack them. They know quite well that the facts do not support this assertion. But to obtain the necessary money they have to persuade the people, the Reichstag, and the Emperor that Great Britain has aggrssive intentions. To do this, they have, as I hope to prove, recourse to all possible means.

Experience has shown them that cases of alleged espionage in Germany can be most usefully employed to stir up public opinion, to influence members of the Reichstag, and to persuade the Emperor. To this end, they take steps to instigate such cases, to obtain convictions at all costs, and generally to use them as a means of showing the supposed hostile intentions of other countries.

Captain Stewart was one of the first to lay down his life for his country in the war and was obviously not a dupe. But at the time we did not see through the miserable game which our German Cousins were playing. To-day we know a great deal better and so possibly does the Kaiser, who has obviously been the dupe of an immoral philosophy of which he was also the exponent.

Notes of the Day

The Tea Duty.

It is gratifying to learn that the Calcutta tea trade is disposed to view the increase of the tea duty with equanimity. For one thing it was prepared. Tea was obviously to be included in any new scheme of extra taxation, and apparently the trade had expected an even heavier imposition than the addition of threepence to the duty that has been imposed. One prominent merchant goes so far as to ask that, having put on the three-pence, the Chancellor will stick to it, in order that the trade may be saved from the harassment of constant changes. "It is chopping and changing that knocks the bottom out of the market" he said, "putting a penny on this year and knocking it off the next." We fancy the tea merchants in Calcutta need have no fear that Mr. Lloyd George, or whoever may succeed him, will be in a position to reduce the tea duty again either next year or the year after.

A Colossal Blunder.

A contemporary which fell into an amazing blunder over Mr. Lloyd George's financial proposals on Wednesday evening, excuses itself in an amusing fashion. The Chancellor, it will be remembered, said that the total sum for which provision would have to be made was 535 millions of ordinary and war expenditure and that the additional money that would have to be found was £339,571,000. Our intelligent contemporary added the two together and, proceeding to discourse on the assumption that the Chancellor had to budget for the truly appalling amount of £874,571,000, produced the following extraordinary conclusion.

Thus the total sum which will have been required up to the end of March, next year, is some eight hundred and seventy-four and a half millions. In other words, according to the estimate, the war will have cost three hundred millions, that is, the proportion which eight months' expenditure will claim on the basis of four hundred and fifty millions a year, and the remaining five hundred and seventy-four millions, required for the ordinary purposes of national finance, are to be partially accounted for by the diminished revenue derived from a falling trade.

A Ray of Illumination!

Of course nothing but the most colossal ignorance could have led anyone into the supposition that the ordinary requirements of national finance, which this year amounted to about £210 millions, had swollen into a figure nearly treble that sum. Having made this blunder the journal in question would have done well to hold its peace. But yesterday it comes out with the announcement under the heading "Light on the Budget" that as a matter of fact there was nothing ambiguous about the first message. It was as clear as daylight:—

"a ray of illumination has been thrown upon the financial provisions of the Chancellor of the Exchequer's since the first rather ambiguous message which claimed our attention yesterday"

Mr. Lloyd-George made a financial statement in the House of Commons to-day. He said he was making proposals not merely to meet the increased expenditure to March 31 next, but also to meet the deficiency in the revenue. The total sum for which provision had been made was 535 millions of ordinary and war expenditure. The additional money which had to be found was £339,571,000. The cost of the war for a full year would be at least 450 millions.

There is nothing ambiguous about that! "Light on our own ignorance" would have been a more appropriate heading.

Corporation and the War Hospital.

The adjourned meeting of the Bombay Corporation yesterday evening was quiet and peaceful throughout, and little business of public interest came up for discussion. On the proposition of Mr. H. P. Mody, the Corporation voted a contribution of Rs. 30,000 towards the expenses of the Lady Hardinge War Hospital. There was no opposition to this vote, when the Commissioner had explained, in reply to Dr. Sukhia, that they could afford to make the contribution; while Sir Dinshaw M. Petit said he would have liked the contribution to be larger. In moving the proposition, Mr. Mody observed that when the War Fund was opened, he thought it desirable that the Corporation should contribute to it, but on going through the Act he could not bring the grant he contemplated within any of its provisions, and therefore he had not moved it. This is an instance of how Bombay does things better than Calcutta. The Calcutta Corporation, we read in a contemporary a short time ago, actually passed a vote of a large sum of money to the War Fund, and subsequently, finding it illegal, were under the painful necessity of rescinding it.

The Grant Road Over-Bridge.

Of the other business that came up only two items were of interest. One concerned the Commissioner's Administration Report for last year, the adoption of which, together with the review of the Standing Committee thereon was moved by Mr. Cowasji Jehangir. On the ground that the members had not had time thoroughly to study the report Mr. Manmohandas Ramji moved that its consideration be adjourned, and this was agreed to. The perrenial question of over-crowding at the Grant Road station overbridge again came forward on a motion by Dr. Master asking the President to draw the attention of the B. B. & C. I. Railway to the matter, with a request that they should either widen the present bridge or provide another temporary one until such time as the enlargement and re-building of the station can be carried out. The Commissioner pointed out that the over-crowding was caused by the public, and not by railway passengers, and several members counselled a more conciliatory attitude than that suggested by the resolution. This was agreed to, and the motion was modified accordingly.

Health during the Week.

The mortality returns of the week ended on Saturday last disclose a slight decline in the death-rate in comparison with that of the week preceding, the total number of deaths reported being 448. The death-rate amounted to 23.78, while in the corresponding week of 1913 it stood at 23.77 and the quinquennial mean was 29.43. It is clear thus that we are faring better this season than we did in the past few years. One of the factors in this improvement of the city's health is, undoubtedly, the weakened hold of plague that we have experienced this year. Last week there was only one fatal plague case, while the average of the corresponding weeks in the past quinquennium was seven. Of small-pox there were only two cases last week and of cholera none. The mortality from the other principal diseases occurred as follows:—Malarial fever 4, enteric 1, fevers of all other kinds 37, diarrhoea 43, dysentry 10, phthisis 25, other diseases of the respiratory system 151 and diseases of the nervous system 21. There were 4 cases of premature birth, 33 of still birth, 2 cases of drowning, 2 of poisoning and 7 of fatal injuries. Out of the total mortality 124 deaths occurred among children under 1 year, 42 among children aged between 1 and 5 years and the rest among persons above 5 years. The total number of births registered in the week under notice was 402, while in the corresponding week of 1913 there were 493 births.

The Women's Branch.

The account on another page of the work of the Bombay Women's Branch of the Imperial Indian Relief Fund, will doubtless be read with a good deal of interest. The Branch has already sent thousands of warm garments off with the troops who have left India for the seat of war, and many of these garments are now being worn by our men in the trenches in France and Belgium. At the time of the South African war many parcels of comforts for the troops were sent from England, a considerable portion of which never reached the soldiers, but this is not the case with the garments which the ladies of Bombay are making, or the comforts which are being contributed. Mr. MacBain, the hard-working general secretary, and his helpers guarantee that the soldiers get the full value of everything that is sent in or made out of the funds, and that as little money as possible is frittered away in expenses. More money and material is required, and the charitably-disposed could hardly find a better way of exercising their philanthropy. It is noteworthy that of a total of 38,756 garments actually made up in Bombay for the troops, 30,000 have been made by the members of the Indian Ladies' Circles.

The German Monster Gun Bogey.

People seem to entertain the belief that the Germans have 17-inch. guns, and this news has been actively spread far and wide by the Teutons. Those who have read Sir John French's despatches will have noticed that so far the biggest guns the Germans have employed are only 8 in. howitzers. During the siege operation at Antwerp no doubt they used 11-inch howitzers but these and the guns at Maubeuge were those belonging to Austrians. But nowhere in these actions have they brought into the field the mythical 13 or 17 in. guns. These stories have all come from German sources. In America where heavy artillery is used more than anywhere, the experts have emphatically declared that there could be no 17 in. gun. We must also relegate such stories of 50 centimeter guns to bombard Dover from Calais to oblivion, for they are not founded on any possible facts.

During the month of September in the whole of India only four new companies were floated with a total capital of eight lakhs of rupees. They were the Bechurdas Cotton Mill of Ahmedabad (five lakhs) the Bharat Timber Trading Company of Sorakhpur, the Chota Nagpur Coal Association and the Japan Depots of Bombay, each with one lakh of authorised capital.

BOMBAY LADIES AND THE WAR

THE WORKING OF THE WOMEN'S BRANCH.

COMFORTS FOR SOLDIERS.

SPLENDID WORK OF INDIAN LADIES

The many-sided activities of the Bombay Women's Branch of the Imperial Indian Relief Fund; and the work done, being done and still to do, are dealt with in the following article.

The headquarters of the Bombay Women's Branch of the Imperial Indian Relief Fund at Waterloo Mansions is a perfect hive of industry, writes a representative of the "Bombay Chronicle," who spent a most interesting hour there yesterday. Here is received and distributed to the various circles in the city the material to be made up into garments for the gallant soldiers who have gone or are going to the front, and back here again come the finished articles when they have been made up in countless homes, to be sorted, made up into bundles and packed into boxes ready for despatch. A great deal of sewing, cutting-out, etc., is also done here; to say nothing of the organising of the work, the heavy correspondence, and other adminstrative labour which is so essential to the effective carrying out of philanthrophic work of this kind on a large scale.

THOROUGH ORGANISATION.

There are many things which impress one on a visit to Waterloo Mansions, and perhaps the chief of these is the very thorough organisation of the work. When the Branch was formed those at the head of affairs adopted methods which ensured, first, that the money they received should be so expended that the soldiers, for whom it was subscribed, should get the maximum of value for it; second, that there should be not the slightest doubt that the soldiers should actually receive the warm garments and comforts made for them; and third, that the executive work should be done at the minimum cost to the fund. And having been there and seen the system in actual working, one can honestly affirm that these things have been achieved.

The material that has to be purchased is bought in the cheapest market, it is made up by the workers in different parts of the city, and the finished article is returned ready to wear at the cost simply of the actual material of which it is made. Then, when the boxes are packed special measures are taken to ensure their getting actually into the hands of the soldiers. Every transport that has left Bombay has had on board boxes of garments and comforts to fit out every man, and many of these garments, made up by the patriotic ladies of Bombay, are doubtless at this moment keeping the men of the Indian force warm and comfortable on the blood-stained fields of France and Belguim. The boxes are given direct into the change of the officers of the various regiments, and there are sheaves of letters of thanks from those officers to be seen at Waterloo Mansions. Over 150 boxes of comforts have already been sent on the transports. Economy in working has also been achieved, and since the work began office expenses have been under Rs. 3,000.

MAGNITUDE OF THE WORK.

A few figures will probably be of interest as showing the magnitude of the work. Up to yesterday slightly over two-and-a-half lakhs of rupees have been subscribed in cash, and the money spent on materials to be made up into shirts, pyjamas, under clothing etc., has amounted to Rs. 52,318.

Large quantities of what are called comforts, as apart from clothes, have been received from the public, but the supply has been by no means equal to the demand, and the Committee have had to buy to make up the deficiency. A sum of Rs. 25,000 has been spent under this head. The term "comforts," for European soldiers comprises cigars, cigarettes, tobacco, pipes, jam, sweets, packs of cards, books and magazines, and games of various sorts; and for Indian soldiers, bidis, Indian tobacco, Swadeshi cigarettes, Indian clay pipes and hookahs, betel nut, and packs of cards.

Generously as the public have contributed, the officials of the Branch are like Oliver Twist in that they want more, and more, and more. Cigarettes, cigars and bidis by the lakh are required, and tobacco, English and Indian, in hundreds of pounds. Readers will please note!

Then again Rs. 10,000 has been spent in relief, of which Rs. 6,000 went to the Belgian and Rs. 3,000 to the French Relief Funds.

INDIAN LADIES' SPLENDID WORK.

In the course of a brief interview with Mrs. Reed, the writer obtained some details of the work done by the various ladies' circles. The Parsi circle, she said, had sent in altogether over 12,000 garments, the Hindu circle over 8,000, and the Mahomedan circle over 10,000, while altogether they had made in Bombay a total of 38,756 garments; in addition to a tremendous lot of garments sent in as gifts. "I should like you to emphasise again," said Mrs. Reed, "the work done by the Indian ladies, for they have really worked splendidly. They did all the sewing required for the fitting-up of the Lady Hardinge War Hospital in addition to making the 38,000

PARIS, Nov. 19.

The "New York Herald" states that the United States cruiser Tennessee asked to be allowed to enter the port of Smyrna in order to protect foreigners.

It was refused whereupon the Tennessee's launch approached the port. The launch was fired upon and compelled to retire.

The commander then announced that he would force his way in.

The authorities, fearing bombardment, left the town.

The Tennesse is an armoured cruiser of 25,000 tons with a speed of 22 knots. Her armament consists of four 10-in. guns, sixteen 6-in., twenty-two 3 in., and 26 small quick-firers.

Both Smyrna and Vourlah are on the Gulf of Smyrna (Asia Minor) which penetrates 46 miles inland from the Aegean Sea.

EXTRA TAX ON TEA.

EFFECT ON THE TRADE.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

CALCUTTA, Nov. 19.

The Calcutta tea trade is disposed to view the increase in the tea duty with considerable calmness. Several prominent merchants state that the increase in duty had been largely discounted.

"It was expected to be up to 8d. or 10d." said one of them, "and personally I should not have been surprised to see it at a shilling. I don't think we have anything to grumble at. It is a fair tax which hits everybody alike and it costs nothing to collect. What we want now is an assurance that they will stick to it. It is chopping and changing that knocks the bottom out of the market putting a penny on this year and taking it off next."

This view appeared to be fairly general.

HIGH COURT.

APPELLATE SIDE.

DISHONEST MISAPPROPRIATION OF PROPERTY.

KHANDERAO BHIKAJI SHIROLE AND TWO OTHERS v. THE KING-EMPEROR.

(Before Justices Heaton and Shah.)

This was an appeal against the decision of Mr. C. A. Kincaid, Seccions Judge of Poona who found the accused guilty of dishonestly misappropriating or converting to their own use the property of one Tulsibai Vairagau, who died on November 2nd 1912, and sentenced the first accused to one year's rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 500, and the second accused to eight months' rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 500, and the third accused, who seemed to be a simple individual, to four months' imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 200.

The deceased Tulsibai was a Bairajan, or a Gosavi woman, and was staying alone in her house at Bhimborda, when people of the village had left the village on account of plague. It was stated that she was possessed of property worth from Rs. 4,000 to Rs. 6,000. The evidence as recorded in the proceedings showed that the police-patel, i.e., accused No. 1, with two other accused, entered the house and removed the property and distributed it not only among his co-accused but kept a good portion to himself and gave some portion of it to other classes of people, Christians, Pardeshis and others. He then made a report to the Mamlatdar that only Rs. 204 worth of property was recovered. On February 13th, a report was issued by the C.I.D., and Sub-Inspector, Ramchandra was deputed to investigate into the matter. There were then several injuries and eventually several articles of stolen property were recovered. The accused were arrested and put to their trial.

The third accused made a confession in which he involved his co-accused and mentioned how the property was disposed of by others.

The arguments were not concluded when their Lordships rose for the day.

Mr. Bhide appeared for the first accused, and Mr. Binning, with Mr. T. R. Desai, appeared for the second accused.

Mr. G. S. Rao, Mr. Kelkar, and Mr. B. G. Rao appeared for the third accused.

RAILWAY COMPANY'S RESPONSIBILITY

(Before the Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Batchelor)

MOTIRAM BHIKCHAND MARWADI AND OTHERS v. THE G. I. P. RAILWAY COMPANY.

This was an appeal against the decision of Mr. F. K. Boyd, District Judge of Nasik, who confirmed the decision of the Subordinate Judge of Mahgadi and dismissed the appeal.

The plaintiffs sued to recover Rs. 3,862-8-0 from the defendant company. They alleged that on the 22nd of December, 1910, they consigned 20 bales of pressed cotton from Nandgadh to their agent in Bombay by rail. The said bales were entrusted to the servants of the defendant company at Nandgaon, for which the latter had issued a railway receipt for the consignment. The bales were then loaded in a wooden waggon covered with corrugated iron sheets. The said waggon was burnt on the same night, it was alleged by the negligence of the defendant company's servants. The plaintiffs had thus suffered a loss for which they had given a notice to the Railway Company which was not replied. The plaintiffs then filed the present suit.

The defendant company contended that the valuation put by the plaintiffs was not correct. The company denied the charge of negligence or want of due care and caution and further submitted that they had taken that amount of care of the plaintiffs' goods which was imposed upon them by law and that the fire was due to causes beyond their control.

The District Judge observed that there was fortunately not the least doubt as to the law applicable to the case, it being in its main aspect exactly parallel to Lakhichand vs. G. I. P. Railway 37 Bom. 1, and therefore he dismissed the appeal.

Their Lordships confirmed the decree of the lower appellate Court, and dismissed the appeal with costs.

Mr. M. R. Jayakar with Mr. A. G. Desai, appeared for the appellants, and Mr. Binning instructed by Messrs. Little and Co., solicitors, appeared for the defendant company.

ORIGINAL SIDE.

RECEIVER APPOINTED.

NENBAI v. DENSEY VEJPAL.

(Before Mr. Justice Macleod.)

This was the hearing of a rule calling upon the defendant to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed of the partnership assets and outstandings in the hands of the defendant.

Mr. Jinnah appeared for the plaintiff in support of the rule, and Mr. Desai appeared to show cause.

The plaintiff's husband and his uncle Densey Vejpal, the defendant, carried on the business of a grain dealer's shop in partnership. They also lent out small sums of money to mill hands and other persons on the pledge of small trinkets. The plaintiff's husband died sometime ago and the plaintiff was anxious to have the partnership dissolved, and her husband's share in the assets ascertained and paid to her; and she alleged that the defendant had put her off on various pretexts. She further alleged that the defendant had attempted to remove a box containing Rs. 6,000 and ornaments, the property of the partnership, to Kutch. The defendant alleged that the moneys and ornaments contained in the box were his own private property, and not the property of the partnership. He further alleged that the panch of their caste had looked into the accounts and found that, Rs. 5,400 would be the share of the plaintiff's husband in the partnership assets. The defendant was willing to furnish security for that amount and wished to be allowed to continue the business. The outstandings of the business, amounting to Rs. 10,000, were to be recovered in small sums from several people and such recoveries could not be satisfactorily made by the receiver.

After hearing arguments of counsel his Lordship made the rule absolute with costs and appointed Mr. Sethna as receiver.

A PRO. NOTE WITHOUT CONSIDERATION.

MERWANJEE RUSTOMJEE MODY v. ANANDRAO VISHWANATH JAIKER AND ANOTHER.

This was a summary suit on a demand promissory note of Rs. 1,200 dated 8th August, 1913, passed by the first defendant in favour of the second defendant and endorsed over by the second defendant to the plaintiff. The matter had come on in Chambers before Mr. Justice Macleod, when his Lordship gave leave to the first defendant to defend the suit while a decree was passed against the second defendant. The first defendant admitted having signed the note but denied that it was payable on demand or that he received any consideration for it. He disputed his liability on the note. under the circumstances mentioned below of which circumstances he alleged, the plaintiff had full knowledge .

The circumstances under which he alleged the note was passed were as follows:—One Meherjeebhoy Pallonjee Shroff alias Batlivala was indebted to the first defendant's firm of Ramnand and Co., in the sum of Rs. 375 in respect of a hundi. The first defendant pressed Meherjibhoy for payment whereupon the second defendant saw the first defendant on behalf of his friend Meherjibhoy, and proposed on his behalf that as Meherjeebhoy had no moneys to pay the debt, the first defendant should take a second mortgage of his right, title and interest in a certain immovable property. He informed the first defendant that he had a claim for Rs. 1,200 against Meherjeebhoy and that another gentleman had also a claim for Rs. 371 against him. The second defendant suggested that one deed of second mortgage should be prepared in respect of the said three claims in the first defendant's name alone, and that the first defendant should pass promissory notes in favour of the second defendant and Dinshaw Dossabhoy Billimoria for the amounts of their respective claims against Meherjeebhoy on the express understanding that the amounts of the said promissory notes were to be paid to the respective parties when the monies on the second mortgage would be realised. This arrangement was accepted by the first defendant after some hesitation and on 8th Aug. a mortgage deed was prepared in favour of the first defendant and the passed promissory notes in favour of the second defendant and Dinshaw Billimoria for Rs. 1,200 and Rs. 371 respectively.

He also took writing from the second defendant and Dinshaw Billimoria to the effect that the monies secured by these pro-notes until the monies on the second mortgage were realised.

The property so mortgaged was under acquisition by the City Improvement Trust. The case was pending before the special collector who informed the first defendant that Meherjeebhoy had already mortgaged his share to the full extent of its value and hardly any margin was left for the second defendant as second mortgagee.

One hearing this the first defendant gave notice to Meherjeebhoy and Billimoria to the effect that under the circumstances the mortgage deed was inoperative and the pro-notes should be cancelled and returned to him, but in spite of this the first defendant assigned the pro-note to the plaintiff although he fully knew that it was without consideration and was invalid under the circumstances mentioned. The first defendant prayed that the suit should be dismissed with costs.

Mr. J. Weldon and Mr. Jardine appeared for the plaintiff.

Mr. Wadia and Mr. Taraporewala appeared for the first defendant.

His Lordship held that the plaintiff had full knowledge of the defect in the title of the second defendant, and the circumstances under which the notes were passed, and that the plaintiff was only a nominee of the second defendant and had paid no consideration.

CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

The Fifth Criminal Sessions of this year begins this morning at 10-30 Mr. Justice Macleod presiding.

There are five cases for trial on the calendar including that in which S. R. Kothavle, M. G. Kothavle, and Rupchand Sarupchand are charged with criminal breach of trust and falsification and fabrication of accounts re the Bombay Banking Company (now in liquidation); and the case in which Musaji Kaderbhoy is charged with forgery and using as genuine a forged document, sanction to prosecute whom was given by Mr. Justice Beaman seven years ago. The three other cases are those in which the accused are charged with administrating a stupefying drug and theft and housebreaking and theft.

BENGAL AMBULANCE CORPS.

TWO MEMBERS GRANTED DIRECT COMMISSIONS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

CALCUTTA, Nov. 19.

Dr. S. P. Sarbadhikari, Commandant of the Bengal Ambulance Corps has received a communication from the Government of India to the effect that two members of his corps have been granted direct commissions as Lieutenants in the I.M.S. The two officers are Lieutenant S. N. Mukerjee, L.M.S., (Calcutta), F.R.C.S. (Edin.), who has been posted to Peshawar and Lieutenant S. C. Sen Gupta, M.D., F.R.C.S., (Edin.), wha had been posted to Poona for service with the Indian troops. Other appointments are impending.

H. H. the Maharaja of Patiala left Bombay on Wednesday for Patiala.

preceding year and he trusted that in years to come they would be pleased to vote more for lighting. In the meantime they would with patience wait till the Commissioner made his report on the qualifying merits of gas and electric lighting.

With regard to health, the report showed that the health of the city had never been better in plague years than it was in the year 1913-1914. Their total death-rate was the lowest recorded since 1896, and he trusted that in future they would have still better results.

Dr. M. C. Javle seconded the proposition.

Mr. Manmohandas Ramji moved that the consideration of this subject be postponed to the next monthly meeting. He said that the members had not had sufficient time to thoroughly study the report.

Mr. J. B. Petit seconded Mr. Maamohandas proposal, which was agreed to.

GRANT ROAD STATION OVER-BRIDGE.

In accordance with a previous notice of motion, Dr. Dinshah B. Master moved:—

"That the president be requested to draw the attention of the B. B. and C. I. Railway authorities to the great inconvenience, annoyance and hardship caused to the travelling public especially ladies, for years past, and trying their patience to the utmost, owing to the provision of a very narrow overbridge at the Grant Road Station, and request them to take a very early action, either to considerably widen the present overbridge, or to provide another temporary one, at any convenient part of the station, until such time as the authorities are able to carry out their long thought-of-project of enlarging and re-building the present structure."

In seconding the proposition, Mr. H. P. Mody observed that the over-crowding at this overbridge was simply scandalous and would not be allowed for a moment in any city where the public could make their opinion felt.

The Municipal Commissioner said that he had often gone to this over-bridge, but he would not say that the over-crowding was scandalous. Besides, it was caused by the public and not by railway passengers. The over-bridge was the private property of the railway company, and it would not be graceful on their part to represent their case in the manner suggested in the proposition. They must remember that the access given to the public was a matter of favour.

Sir Ibrahim Rahimtulla advised the members not to adopt a hostile attitude towards the railway company in this case, lest they might retaliate by stopping the public from using the over-bridge. He thought that the question must be considered in a very conciliatory spirit. He, therefore, moved as an amendment that the President be requested to address the Railway Company pointing out that the bridge was generally overcrowded and requesting them to consider the desirability of widening the bridge, so as to relieve or remedy the congestion.

Dr. N. H. Sukhia seconded the amendment.

Mr. H. P. Mody, observed that the object would not be served if they passed Sir Ibrahim's amendment. In that case the Railway Company would relieve the congestion by simply preventing the use of the bridge by the public. He, therefore, asked Sir Ibrahim to substitute the words "to minimiso the inconvenience to the public."

Mr. Jamshedji A. Wadya suggested that they should request the Commissioner to correspond with the railway company privately and bring about a satisfactory settlement.

On the suggestion of Mr. Navalkar, Sir Ibrahim modified his amendment by substituting the word "Commissioner" for the word "President."

Dr. Master then withdraw his proposition in favour of Sir Ibrahim's amendment.

Mr. D. E. Wacha said that in this matter legal rights were involved, and they should avoid coming into conflict with the railway authorities. A compromise in such cases must be adopted.

Sir Ibrahim's amendment was then carried as a substantive proposition.

At this stage the meeting was adjourned until Monday.

THE AGRICULTURAL OUTLOOK.

According to reports from the various parts of the Presidency there was slight rain in nearly all the districts during the week ending 17th instant. It was beneficial to standing crops though slightly injurious to cotton in West Khandesh. More rain is, however, needed in one taluka and one petha of Poona and two talukas of Sholapur and one of Satara. Standing crops were in good condition except for slight damage by grass-hoppers in one taluka of Nasik, by rats in two States of Rewa Kantha and by insufficient rain in two talukas of Poona. Harvesting of kharif crops continues. Picking of cotton is in progress in Hyderabad, Thar and Parkar, Nawabshah, Khandesh, Ahmednagar, Nasik, Kathiawar and Baroda. Rabi sowing generally continues. The supply of fodder was adequate except in the area affected by floods and the hilly tracts of Karachi, one taluka in Thar and Parkar, two talukas and one petha of Poona and one taluka of Sholapur. Agricultural stock was in good condition but was deficient in numbers in Ahmednagar and Poona. Supply of water for drinking and irrigation was generally adequate. Prices of food-grains have fallen in Sind, risen in Gujarat, Deccan and the Karnatak and were generally steady elsewhere.

THE MOHURRUM.

The Mohorrum commenced last night with the appearance of the New Moon. The festival lasts for ten days, and the immersion day will fall on the 29th instant. The celebrations are to be quiet as has been the case for the last three years. Last night mejlisses were held in Mahomedan quarters when large crowds of devout Moslems assembled to hear religious discourses from the Moulvies.

The death at his home in Aligarh after a short illness is reported of Maulana Shible who is held in much esteem in the Mahomedan world for his researches into Islamic history.

Major G. S. Palmer, 98th Infantry appointed temporary Deputy Judge-Advocate General, Northern Army, vice Lieutenant-Colonel J. Beatson-Bell who has proceeded on active service.

garments mentioned. Then again, we have fitted out three ambulance trains, for which most of the work has been done by Indian ladies. Their work has been of the greatest value." It might be mentioned that the cost to the fund of the War Hospital was only Rs. 4,749, of which Rs. 3,000 is being spent on the garden; while the equipment of the ambulance trains only cost Rs. 1,123, which shows a huge saving due to the efforts of the Indian ladies' circles.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN'S BRANCH.

Another field of activity which the Women's Branch has taken up is in connection with the wives and children of European soldiers, who are being sent Home to England. Mrs. T. C. Watson, who is in charge of this branch of the work, said the object of this department was to provide warm clothing and other necessaries for the wives and children of soldiers who have gone to the front, and who are themselves being sent Home. Up to the present about 300 women and 50 children have been attended to.

Here again the work is done thoroughly and systematically. The women who are going Home are interviewed by members of the committee, who find out exactly what they want, and then have their requirements made up into bundles, addressed, and delivered on board the ship. Large quantities of clothing have been given, but here, too, the cry is for more. One great requirement is boys' overcoats, and children's shoes, and, indeed, any sort of warm clothing in good condition. There are 2,000 women and children going, so that a good lot of clothes are required to fit them out.

"We get a lot of things sent from all parts of India," said Mrs. Watson, "and we can use all we get. For instance, the other day, Lady Willingdon gave me £25 to be spent on condensed milk, cocoa, biscuits and so on, and this will be very acceptable to women with children on the voyage Home. Any kind of toys are useful, too. The work in our department," she added, "is entirely voluntary, and we have no paid labour."

In addition to this work of providing the women and children with warm clothes, a portion of the Funds are devoted to helping them pecuniarily when they reach the other side. Money is given to commanders of transports to be given to the women who arrive in England with little money to take them to their homes.

Lady Willingdon takes a very deep interest in the work of the branch, and spends a good deal of time at the headquarters. Her Excellency was there all morning yesterday, and laughingly asked our representative to write a magnificent account, adding that the work being done was really magnificent—a remark with which all who read the foregoing details will agree.

SOLDIERS' STORIES.

OFFICER'S FEELINGS UNDER FIRE.

An interesting picture of the feelings of a man under fire is given in the current "Cambridge Review" in a letter written to his father by Lieutenant H. J. S. Shields, of the Royal Army Medical Corps, who was stroke of the Light Blue "eight" in 1910 and who has already been mentioned in despatches. Lieutenant Shields, who was captured by the Germans while looking after the wounded, but who escaped on the retreat of the enemy, mentions an incident in the Battle of the Aisne, and describes his efforts to find a man who was injured by a German sniper.

As I did not know where our man was, I had to look about a bit, which I did by short runs and lying down. As it was, the sniper had ten or more shots at me, all very close, one covering me with earth as I was squatting down for a breather. When I found our man he was dead. It is a strange thing, and rather contrary to what one expects, that though I have been under fire of all sorts, shell and rifle, and have been many times missed by inches I have never been actually frightened. The immense excitement of it acts as a kind of stimulant. I can't say I would not rather stay in the cave than go out to be shot at by a crack marksman 400 yards off, but the thrill of the excitement rather overweighs the fear. My friend the sniper, however, had killed this poor fellow pretty dead.

I am afraid I have so many narrow shaves I shan't be believed. I make a point of entirely disregarding fire when it comes to the point of seeing to a wounded man, and pay no attention. I don't believe precautions beyond the ordinary one of not exposing yourself more than can be helped do any good, and I am rather a fatalist. After all, I always think if one is killed doing one's duty we can't help it, and it is the best way of coming to an end, and so I mentally repeat that to myself when I am getting plugged at. Somehow, I don't feel that God means me to get killed yet, though before I came outi I had a conviction I should not come back alive.

There is fortunately plenty of tobacco, as we open the cigarettes, tobacco, and chocolate of all officers who have been killed and wounded and have no further use for them up here. I regret to say that almost everything I now possess belonged to officers now dead, but as I had nothing left after the Germans took everything from me I have had to do the best I could.

STEADY PROGRESS IN BOMBAY PRESIDENCY.

The Government of Bombay resolution primarily vaccinated the last two years states:—

In regard to the number of persons primarily vaccinated the last two year of the triennium, the results for which approximate very closely to one another, show a distinct improvement over the first. Even with the reduction produced by the inclusion of the latter year's results, the average of the triennium under review, 704,427, exceeds the average of the preceding triennium by 37,930. As the latter represented an improvement of 67,267 on the results of the triennial period 1905—08, it is apparent that there has been steady progress in the spread of vaccination in the Presidency.

The complete ascertainment of the results of vaccinations still presents considerable difficulties, and the percentage of cases regarding which information was not obtained increased slightly from 7.59 in the previous triennium to 8.28 in the triennium under review. The nomadic habits of certain classes of the general community constitute the principal difficulty in this respect.

Re-vaccination, which is essential for the prevention of small-pox, is making only slow progress, in spite of the increased activity during recent years of the disease, every fresh outbreak of which gives a temporary and local stimulus to re-vaccination. The annual average number of re-vaccinations during the triennium was 71,008, a figure which the Sanitary Commissioner rightly regards as altogether inadequate, having regard to the adult population of the Presidency, for the effective stamping out of small-pox. The great mass of the people have still to learn to appreciate the reventive value of this operation.

The output of doses of glycerinated vaccine from the Belgaum Vaccine Institute increased from 635,000 in the concluding year of the preceding triennium to 874,000 in the corresponding year of the triennium under review.

Many cases of long standing have been cured by Methyloids after everything else failed. By taking Methyloids you save time and money—and get cured.

COOPERATION IN BOMBAY.

FURTHER RAPID PROGRESS LAST YEAR.

The Government Resolution reviewing the annual report on the working of Co-operative Societies in the Bombay Presidency including Sind, for the year 1913-14, is published in the "Bombay Government Gazette", and from it we take the following extracts:—The year 1913-14 marks a period of further rapid progress in the development of the co-operative movement among the agricultural and industrial classes of the Presidency. No less than 212 new societies of all kinds were registered during the year; the total membership rose from 46,221 to 66,704, and the working capital from Rs. 48,47,763 to Rs. 66,13,135. These increases are eminently satisfactory. But in estimating the progress of the movement, mere additions to the total number of societies, their membership and working capital, are of little value unless they are accompanied by a steady growth in their financial stability, improvement in their methods of management, and a corresponding increase in public interest and confidence in their potentialities. That these essentials are by no means lacking, the report now under review affords ample evidence. The fact that the societies, from the Central Bank down to the humblest village society, weathered with success the financial crisis of the year is striking proof of the soundness of the movement, which is further exemplified by the increase in deposits in most of the limited societies, and by the transfer in some cases of sums withdrawn from the Banks during the crisis to the credit of Co-operative Societies. The few failures that have to be recorded are due as much to ignorance as to any other cause, and have, with one unfortunate exception, so far been attended with practically no loss to members or depositors.

While there has been a large increase in the number of agricultural societies—159 in all, they have again proved their capacity to do without Government assistance in the shape of loans, which now form only 6½ per cent. of the total working capital as compared with 9 per cent. last year and 20 per cent. in 1910. At the same time deposits of members and non-members show a satisfactory increase from 27 per cent. to 31 per cent. of the total working capital, and large loans were received from central financing institutions. These facts afford satisfactory evidence of the growth of public confidence in the financial stability of these societies, and of the benefit which the rayat derives from the access to the general money market afforded to him by his membership of a society. The Governor in Council has read with great interest the Registrar's remarks in paragraph 32—37 of the report regarding co-operative purchase and distribution among agriculturists. The difficulties to be faced in this connection are undoubtedly formidable, but there cannot be the least doubt that the organisation on a co-operative basis of the purchase of agricultural requirements and the sale of agricultural produce is of very great importance to the welfare of the rayat. The beginnings of the purchase and distributive societies which are mentioned in these paragraphs, though small, are none the less hopeful, and under the special guidance of a keen and energetic officer like Mr. Gonehalli—who since the close of the year has been temporarily appointed as Assistant Registrar—more rapid progress in their development may be expected.

FIRES IN BOMBAY.

On Wednesday night a Hindu woman named Manibai, aged about 20, residing in Kolbhat Street, was trying to place a kerosene oil lamp in a bracket overhead, when the lamp slipped and fell on her. Her clothes caught fire, but the flames were extinguished by the woman's relatives. She was removed to the G. T. Hospital for treatment.

A cadian, hut at Elphinstone Road caught fire from a naked kerosent oil lamp on Wednesday night. The fire spread to the adjoining huts, and in about ten minutes all the huts were destroyed, the damage being estimated about Rs. 500.
